QAHS Apartments Set to "Go Condo" this Spring

By Doug Froling '48

In late November 2005, the lease agreement contract between the Seattle School District and Bruce Lorig for the QAHS building and property was sold to Legacy Partners. In published reports, Lorig has spent over $9.2 million on renovations to the property preparing the rental apartment units to be put on the market as condominiums, and sold at current market price.

Legacy Partners is best described by their website: "...has been a leader in commercial and residential real estate for more than 37 years, managing a portfolio currently valued at $4.7 billion."

For more than 35 years, Legacy Partners Residential has built luxury multi-family communities throughout the western U.S.

For more information on the upcoming condo sales, contact the Residential Office at (206) 275-4060 or your local real estate agent.

QAHSAA Celebrates 25th

Honoring the Past, Looking to the Future

By Barb Nelson '58 & John Hennes '51

Where has the time gone? Our beloved high school closed in 1981, but our grads remain appreciative of our high school years and our experience at Queen Anne. The Queen Anne High School Alumni Association is marking its 25th anniversary this year, and all alumni are invited to join in on marking this event and helping to take part in alumni activities. Some of the highlights of the Association's history are:

- ◆ QAHS closure in June 1981 is marked by the Last Hurrah celebration.
- ◆ Alumni Association is founded November 1981, as an expansion of the Last Hurrah Reunion Committee.
- ◆ First picnic is held September 1982 at Woodland Park.
- ◆ First newsletter is published September 1982 and mailed to 3,200 grads. In 1983 about 5,000 are mailed. Today 12,000 copies are mailed.
- ◆ First annual banquet held November 1982 at Sand Point Officers' Club.
- ◆ The first QA Alumni Scholarship, in September 1983, is awarded to Michael Bennett '79. In the first 5 years we awarded 15 scholarships. In the most recent 5 years we have awarded 129 scholarships.
- ◆ Kerry McMahan '54, has chaired the Scholarship Committee since 1984 and has carried out most of its detail work for the entire 23 years.
- ◆ A total of 219 scholarships have been awarded, for a grand total of $109,500.
- ◆ First spring luncheon is held May 1998.
- ◆ The QA Alumni website goes live online in August 2000.

From Our QAHSAA President

“Gone But Not Forgotten.” Boy, have we Grizzly alums lived up to that motto! That was the theme of “The Last Hurrah”. I remember being there and in my memory I can see Mr. Ottum, the band leader when I was at school, leading that rag-tag band of former QAHS band members with their long unused instruments playing school songs and marching in front of our beloved, but closed, Alma Mater that fateful day in 1981. I remember vividly that I cried. It was such a bittersweet event. And to think that was 25 long years ago and yet, “for within our memory there stands a Grizzly bold”. Proof being that our Association is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year. Hard to believe it has been that long. Also hard for me to believe it has been 10 or 15 years ago that Irv Smith '38 insisted that I accompany him, after pushing me for years, to an Alumni board meeting. At that time they were held at the home of Maxine Amundson McMahan '45. She had boxes and boxes of QA “stuff” all over her house and in her basement. She greeted me warmly and during the meeting told us about the vision the original steering committee had for the Association. On the way home Irv asked me what I thought of the board meeting. I replied I was interested in being involved, but not until I retired and had the free time to become active. Unknown to me, the very next morning Irv mailed his already written letter of resignation to the Board. In it he named me as his replacement. Sneaky Irv. I did not know anything about this until the following month when Maxine phoned to tell me the date and time of the meeting I was expected to attend. The rest is history. I am still very much involved. Maxine died several years ago. Occasionally I feel her presence and know that she is very proud of the Association’s activities and the number of scholarships awarded to grads and their descendents. I think it is a wonderful legacy to the original steering committee that wanted to keep the Grizzly spirit alive. THANKS to all of you for the donations of money and time that makes it all possible!

In Grizzly Fellowship, Barb

THE KUAY Acknowledgements

Our thanks again to all those who have given their time and material support to our alumni activities or donated historical materials for our archives. We thank you for your gifts.

Kindnesses:

The Queen Anne United Presbyterian Church for continuing to provide meeting space for the Board.

Seattle Parks Department for its friendly cooperation with our annual picnic.

Tully's Coffee in Magnolia, for picnic supplies.

Bruce Amundson '72, owner of Star Sports, who has helped numerous times with the procurement, moving and storage of our merchandise.

Jeff Cummings '76 for being the alumni webmaster and L.D. Zobrist '62 for his computer support and e-mail management.

Betty (Charouhas) Bebee '45, Terris Howard '52, Helen Lorbeski '39, Paul & Pauline Mason '40 and Doris (McClure) Linkletter '31 for continuing to screen many newspapers for the obit notices used in our Memorials. We appreciate all those who write to us about the passing of our fellow alumni.

Alumni Board Members who generously continue to donate items each year for the raffles at our spring luncheon, fall banquet and picnic.

Memorabilia Gifts:

Patty (Cannon) Hope '72 for passing on to us classroom grade-books from the 1960s and '70s that belonged to Marguerite Dannenmiller, French and Latin teacher.

Mary (Bliss) Skidmore '40 for donating a matted print of an ink sketch of Queen Anne done by Chris Bollen '61.

WHO'S NEWS

Compiled By Kim R. Turner '61

We need your input to create this column. Send news of Grizzlies to: KUAY Editor, QA Alumni Assoc., PO Box 9128, Seattle, WA 98109, or e-mail: kturner@spl.org Photos are always wanted, but may not make The KUAY due to space constraints. Receipt of photos will be acknowledged within "Who's News".

1920s

"Princess" Alice, Alice Whalley Holcomb '21, has left us at age 101 ½. She was our "Miss Queen Anne" during the Magnolia Days parade in August 2003. She died Dec. 1 of heart problems which came on in November.

We received news that the former home of the Cherberg family, at 21st Avenue West & West Dravus, is now an Irish pub and restaurant called Mulleady's. During the early part of the 20th century it was the grocery store run by the father of John (Cowboy Johnny) Cherberg '29, Jim, Fred, Clyde, and all the remaining Cherberg children. Jim ran Cherberg's Broiler in the Orpheum Theatre and later between Pike and Union on 5th Avenue, which was often the major meeting place of state democrats, including John, then lieutenant-governor of the State of Washington. John had been a singular football player at Queen Anne and the University of Washington, before turning to coaching Cleveland High School's football team, then Queen Anne High's team, then the University Frosh, then the varsity, before being elected in 1956 to the position of Lt. gov. he held for the next three decades. It is of interest to note that John led Cleveland to its only football title in 1937, with its only loss to Queen Anne that year. John led Queen Anne's Grizzlies to titles in 1942 and 1945, his last season there.

Doris Linkletter '31, now living in Des Moines, WA., saw an article about Randolph Hokanson '33, in a recent issue of The Seattle Times. It brought back a memory of an afternoon in 1931 when the music department had a recital, with the orchestra playing, and, among other soloists, Randolph at the piano. After he finished his piece, Mr. Kendrick, the music teacher, said that Randolph had forgotten the correct ending, but had composed one on the spot which fitted the work very well. Doris relates, "Certainly I could not tell. Mr. Kendrick was impressed, I think." Randolph is living in the former Queen Anne High School.

Clamara (Skaw) Hobson '36, recently moved from Claremont East Retirement Apartments in Bremerton to Merrill Gardens in West Seattle. She has found new playing partners and plays bingo, poker and pinochle as much as possible. Her youngest daughter Irene (Hobson) Zech '66, visited from near Houston in August.

Randy Zimmer '36, is perhaps best known for his wife Norma, who was for many years the Champagne Lady on the Lawrence Welk Show. The Zimmers held their 61st wedding anniversary June 5, 2005, skiing in California as there was no snow left on which to ski in Utah, where the Zimmers live. Randy loves The KUAY!

Violet (Curlin) Meacham '37, is now living at the Mountlake Terrace Adult Family Home. She enjoyed the Spring Luncheon, and sent copies of photos taken at that event.

Gladine (Bette) Lillie Loomis '39, sends a photo of herself with classmates Shirley Brown Doran '39, Dorothy Clark Rogers '40, and Dorothy Wilson Haas '42. They were at a luncheon in Normandy Park to honor Shirley, who was visiting from Tucson, AZ.

1940s

The death of Paul Williams '43, Seattle-area climber, attorney and writer, was noted in The Seattle Times in December 2005. He had been living on Bainbridge Island at the time of his death.

Three grads from the 1940s enjoyed a cruise through the Panama Canal last May. From left, Mickey (Heady) Morgan '46, Gloria (Houck) Ferguson '47, and Madeline (Kirkman) Slattery '46. Since high school, though they lived in various states, these three grads have had mini-reunions with Ginny (Hay) Nelson '46, Barbara (Camman) Carter '47, Joy (Beernink) Schlinker '47, Dorothy (Goff) Byron '47, and the late Joanne (Kirkman) Van Sinden '47. They hope to have many more!

The '46 coupe is Alden's - and he left it outside! Russ Osborn was a member of the "Checkerboard Squadron" - two of whose members rescued then Colonel Robert E. Galer USMC, '31, whose plane had been downed behind enemy lines, in August 1952.

Thelma (Knox) Beck '49 sent a picture taken on a memorial bench dedicated to classmate Joan (Sobottka) Meadows '49, who died last January. Thelma is seated with Ellery (Dolan) Olswang '49. The bench is located at Olympic Place and High Street in Edmonds.

Joe Ferluga '49 & wife Diane celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a 31-day riverboat trip from Amsterdam via the Rhine to the Black Sea and Romania where they visited Dracula's castle. He is proud to report that granddaughter & QAHSAA scholarship recipient, Elizabeth, is attending medical school at the University of Iowa.

1950s

William Reese III '50, sends a photo of himself taken around his graduation. He still considers himself "Wild Bill" Reese.

Ed Sobota '51 sent some fragile clippings of his brother, Don '53, who is one of the greatest bowlers out of Washington State. Don retired from bowling during the late 1990s due to some leg and back problems. Don was elected into the Greater Seattle Bowling Association Hall 4 The KUAY February 2006 of Fame in 1989.

Rod Parke '56, son of Queen Anne math teacher Charles Parke, moved back to the Northwest in the late 1970s. He is docent trainer for the Kruckeberg Botanic Garden in Shoreline.

Bonnie (Yenne) Himka '59, sent a Christmas letter to her former partner in crime, Sid (Turner) Noel '59, detailing Bonnie's new love – driving full size diesel trains! Husband Roger Himka volunteered to be chief of Railroad Operations at Opportunity Village, which means being responsible for maintenance, recruiting and training new engineers and conductors, digging up and repairing tracks, and solving all of the mechanical and electrical problems during the holiday season. These duties led to the couple's volunteering on the Southern Nevada Railway in Boulder City, NV. They worked the weekend of the Santa Train – 13 runs in two days with about 3,400 passengers.

Kathy Goertzen '76, an anchor of Channel 4, KOMO TV news, has come through her second battle with cancer. per Susan Paynter's column in the Sept. 17, 2005 issue of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

John Hay Turns 100

By John Hennes '51

Queen Anne grads who attended John Hay were plentiful at the big centennial celebration held Oct. 8, 2005 at old Hay (4th N and Boston). The 1905 wooden building, a designated Seattle Landmark, has been re-sided, painted and generally refurbished. Grads, neighbors and today's young students mingled in the day-long festivities.

Part II: Erwin Henkel Shaped QA Boys for 38 Years

More of their stories:

By John Hennes '51

In August 2004 we asked for stories from Queen Anne grads about Coach Erv Henkel (1902-1988). Some of these were printed in the August 2005 issue. Here we print more and conclude with some tributes to Mr. Henkel's lasting influence.

Robert W. Anderson '38 sends a personal story. "(In 1936) Mom was confined to the hospital for nearly a year, with a radical mastectomy, which would not heal. A number of us volunteered to give her needed blood transfusions. I was only 16, and was considered too young, but the need was great to save her life, so they took me anyway. I still bear the scar from the large-bore needle used at that time. When I returned to Gym class, I had a big bandage over the site of the hole. Henk was just calling roll for the class, when he got to me, his few words were: 'ANDERSON OUT!!' Anything less, would, of course, have been unthinkable, but revealed the heart of gold this man possessed. He is solid in my memory book—and always will be. God bless you, Henk."

Don Lorentz '60 had his own introduction to Mr. Henkel. "My father graduated from Queen Anne in 1935, and was a good athlete. He played baseball for Henkel, and often spoke of the great man. When I got to the high school in the 8th grade and entered Henk's gym for the first time, I went up to him and mentioned that my Dad was once a student of his and sends best regards. Little did I realize that every male who went to the school since 1926 could (and perhaps did) say the same thing. He looked down at me, pointed to the wall, and said, 'Sit down and shut up. Welcome to high school.'" Lorentz continues with a description of one of Henkel's standard exercises. "In the boy's gym there was a wooden rack under the basket at one end of the floor. The racks were wide and covered the entire wall. The top pole was set out from the wall by about one foot. During one class, Henkel began a short speech on the importance of learning to swim. He criticized the school district for not building swimming pools at every high school, so that all kids would learn to swim. It was a pretty effective and apparently serious speech. Then, he closed as follows: 'But if you don't know how to swim, you must learn to hang on to that boat, and I am going to make sure you learn to do that.' He then sent us over to the rack, where the entire class had to reach up, grab the high bar, and hang in seeming agony for what seemed like a half-hour...but was probably a couple minutes."

Gary Christopher '67 recalls two additional favorite exercises of the Coach: "...even though some of the games we played during PE class would be outlawed today. For instance: King of the Castle—one boy would be on a wrestling mat. The other boys would line up and take turns attempting to move the first boy from the mat. If this occurred, then that boy would then become 'king of the castle.' Most anything went. Another was Ring Around the Rosy—all the boys (but two) would stand in a large circle. One of the remaining boys was given a 2 foot piece of car tire rubber. He would chase the other boy around the circle, attempting to hit him with the tire rubber. The chased boy could duck into the circle in front of another boy and then that boy would become the 'chased.'" Henkel's problems with names was also part of his legend. Christopher continues, "My last name is Christopher but he thought I was Norwegian so he always called me Christofferson. I corrected him once or twice but he continued to address me as 'Christofferson', so that's what I went by during PE classes."

KUAY & QAHSAA

The KUAY is published by the Queen Anne High School Alumni Association, free for members and friends of the Association. To be placed on the mailing list or to help with Association activities, write to: PO Box 9128, Seattle, WA. 98109-0128 or e-mail: info@qagrizzlies.org. Donations are enthusiastically requested, as they sustain the Association. Board meetings are generally held on the third Monday of each month and are open to all graduates. Phone Barb Nelson at (206) 567-4180 for details. The QAHSAA is a 501(c)(3) exempt organization.

Peter Freeman '65 recalls another typical story. "One day when the class was lined up for roll call, Mr. Henkel shared a letter he received from the School Board. I don't remember what the letter said, but I do remember Coach's opinion of it. After he read it to us, he said, 'Boys, this is what I think of the School Board' and as he finished his statement, he gestured as if the letter was toilet paper and he was using it for that purpose."

David DeLaitre '62 remembers that, "Around 1960, Ann Landers visited the Queen Anne School and gave a talk in the auditorium. Teachers were instructed by the principal that they could cancel their classes and send their students to listen to Ann Landers. Coach Henkel stated that it wouldn't do any good to have his boys' gym class listen to a lecture by Ann Landers since, 'Whatever she would say, they still would smoke, drink and screw around'."

Don Lorentz '60 also sent a story about Henkel's perception of fairness. "One member of our (freshman) class made halfback on the JV team, which was pretty good, and he was obviously the big man of the class to the rest of us. He received numerous props from his peers, and even from some of the teachers. This young man was a good athlete, who could do anything...except climb a rope in gym class. Another classmate, named Tommie, seemed unable to do anything athletically, EXCEPT go up and down a rope... which he somehow was able to climb like a monkey. Tommie had few success experiences in life. One day in class (1957) Henkel began talking about 'Big ___,' the great halfback and athlete. Heaping praise on the young man. Henk then said, 'Big ___ will now demonstrate how to climb the rope'. After a minute or so of struggling, the super athlete had to give up. Henk then asked Tommie to show 'Big ___ how to climb the rope.' Tommie zipped to the top, rang the bell, and quickly returned to the floor. At the time I was upset with Henkel for embarrassing the football star, but as I got older and for a time coached high school baseball, my attitude changed. Henk realized that the athlete had more than his share of success experiences in his young life, and perhaps needed to be shown he was not the best at everything. Tommie at that point had experienced no such success, so Henk gave him some useful, positive recognition."

"I learned more from him than any big league guy I ever played under," Edo Vanni '37.

Erwin Henkel was a straight arrow, in today's terms. He was outspoken all of his life and did not fit the politics of a large school like Queen Anne. In his later years, alone after his wife Cora died, he wrote some personal notes on his view of the way things work, both in school and in life. "(Principal) Luther played one teacher against the other—he never settled any problems. Luther found out about school kids and teachers through Miss Hawkins—the boys told the girls, girls told Hawkins and Hawkins told Luther."

Henkel was seldom optimistic about school problems. "School discipline at Queen Anne not too good, but became less strict and more of a problem as years went by. Luther did less and less and let Miss Hawkins run the school." In 1981 Henkel was quoted in The Seattle Times, "All I wanted to be was a teacher, but they railroaded me into the baseball-coaching job. So I did my best."

Coach Henkel's example for his players has been characterized by his star player, Edo Vanni '37. "If Henkel had been Commander in Chief, our armed services could have licked anybody. He was an inspiration to every kid with whom he had any contact, and he treated us all the same, whether we came from a ten-room home on Highland Drive or a frame house at the bottom of the hill. He was a hard-handed coach, but all he expected was that you do your best."

When Grizzlies meet at our reunions, we often have trouble remembering the names of some of our teachers, but no man of Queen Anne from those years ever forgets Mr. Henkel's name. As in the film, "Mr. Holland's Opus", Coach Henkel's life-work was and is visible in thousands of men who passed through the halls of our school between 1926 and 1964. A final tribute comes from Vanni, one of Seattle's greatest ballplayers, who when asked in 1977, among all the great baseball managers and coaches he had played for, who was the best? Edo's surprising answer: "Coach Erv Henkel at Queen Anne. I learned more from him than any big league guy I ever played under." Mr. Henkel died in 1988 at age 86.

A slim, 27 year-old Erv Henkel sets the tone for his 1929 QA baseball squad.

Class of '50 Celebrates 55th

By Doug O'Brien '50

The class of '50 held its 55th reunion Sept. 16, 2005 at Seattle's Broadmoor Golf Club, with 59 grads attending with spouses or guests for a total of 89 attendees. Coach Walt Milroy and his wife Virginia were also present for the event. Peggy (Albert) Mangano came the farthest from West Virginia, but other Grizzlies traveled from Illinois, Nevada, California, British Columbia and other locations to enjoy the cherished hours of visiting, food and libations with their fellow classmates and friends.

Class of '55 Hits Fiftieth

By Jean White '55

The class of '55 had a great turnout for our 50th reunion Sept. 16 - 18, 2005. Friday night was a no-host get-together at the Yankee Grill in Ballard. We virtually took over the bar -- it was definitely a "Who is that, now? I must know that stranger" - then "Ah-ha! There's Sue or Jim or Don or Gail - I think." Our Saturday night "Big Deal" dress-up dinner affair at the Nile Country Club provided an elegant setting and another time to reminisce, visit with others we didn't see the night before and was great fun. We had more actual classmates in attendance than we have ever had - wonderful - some who had never been to a reunion before and others who haven't been to one for years. Lots of catching up to do!

On Sunday, Susie Swanson Davis graciously hosted our early afternoon casual get-together. We enjoyed munching on hors d'oeuvres and continued catching up. The entire weekend was fun for everyone and not something we will soon forget - at least most of us will not forget . . .but we are definitely into that forgetful stage of life.

We on the committee cannot thank our classmates enough for supporting our efforts and joining us in these most nostalgic and rare occasions where we are all back in high school for just a little while.

Class of '60 Unites!

By Marilyn Markoff Southern '60

Can it really have been 45 years since we graduated from QAHS? Seems like just yesterday when we walked down to the Memorial Stadium singing, "We are the Grizzlies, the mighty, mighty Grizzlies..." and then watched our team in orange uniforms play in the mud. Remember when the girls were commanded by the boys to go into the smoky, smelly Greasy Spoon on Sadie Hawkins Day. Or the times some of boys had to spend on CCC (Campbell's Cleanup Crew). Or when we read "John Brown's Body" in Miss Hick's Language Arts Class. Or when we learned geometry and that "It's a woman's prerogative to change her mind" from Mrs. Paul. Or how

Mr. Clark taught us how to use a slide rule. Or when we performed in Kuay Kapers and "Brigadoon". Or when we went to the PTA dances at the Fieldhouse. Or when we graduated at the Ice Arena and Prom night at the Olympic Hotel's Spanish Ballroom. These are just some of the topics of conversation overheard on Oct. 1, 2005, at the 45th reunion held at the Shilshole Bay Beach Club. It was fun, fun for the 110 attendees. For several, it was the first reunion, and everyone had a grand time. We're already talking 50th!

We always knew we were in a good place when we taught at Queen Anne. These gatherings keep reminding us how great it was. You were always a great group and you are still.

We are really pleased and honored that you keep inviting us to participate in these events. Tonight, I believe, we have almost as many of us - faculty and spouses, as you have alums here.

You are really a special and unique group and we are glad that you include us all. If you keep inviting us we will keep coming.

Scholarship applications are now available and should immediately be requested by writing to the Education Committee, 3025 NE 95th Street, Seattle WA., 98115-2436, or by phoning (206) 523-0079.

Completed applications must be postmarked no later than Friday, March 31, 2006. Do not send them via FEDEX or similar carriers. No packets will be mailed to requestors after Monday, March 20, 2006.

Requestors will receive an instructional cover letter, application form and personal reference forms. Applicants' submittals must include all items requested in the cover letter and the application form. Failure to comply with these stipulations may disqualify applicants from consideration. Scholarship winners will be selected in early May and the winners will be announced at their schools' honors assemblies or commencement ceremonies.

Applicants are urged to submit their applications as quickly as possible following receipt of their application packets. The sooner the application is received by the Committee, the more time the members have to review the application. Please don't procrastinate!

The QAHSAA scholarship program has been the primary public expression of our Association's legacy since its founding in 1981. The scholarship funds come from the donations of our Grizzly alumni, either individually or through their reunion committees. All donations are tax deductible. Donations for scholarships may be made for specific scholarships or for the growth of our Scholarship Endowment Fund, which helps provide for our perpetual Grizzly Scholarship Program. Please visit www.qagrizzlies.org for additional scholarship information.

Editor's Note: In the August 2005 KUAY, Melissa Boni was listed as a QAHSAA scholarship recipient. We'd like to acknowledge that her grandfather, Bob White '54, is a QA grad in addition to her grandmother who was mentioned in the write-up, Jean White '54.

school. Old Hay has been in use since for various school district programs. Today it houses the Secondary Bilingual Education Center, providing new immigrants with their first taste of American education.

Alas, the future of the old building and of the 1922 brick building is unknown. The school district is under pressure to cut costs by closing the facility and either mothballing the school or leasing it out. The current program will be there for at least the next two years. Considerable work, organized by the Friends of Old Hay, has been completed on the school grounds to create garden spaces, a giant chess board and a basketball court.

Remembering a Friend Becomes Tradition

QAHS's George Varver '54 Inspires Annual Luncheon

By Dwight "Dee" Hawkes '54

George was the only child raised by a French mother and a Greek father. At West Queen Anne Elementary, his European looks made him look like an older kid. To close friends like Quinn Redeker, Park Goist, Jack Drexel, Swede Wilson, and Pete Barbas, he was the playground king.

When he got to Queen Anne, George excelled in class, football, the Kuay Kapers and track. In search of adventure after his 1954 graduation, he attended Bulitt Preparatory School in Silver Springs, MD., before returning to the University of Washington for a quarter.

Then, in 1955, he received an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy. George received his commission as a Naval Officer at Newport, R.I., in 1959. He joined the Naval Air Reserve at Sand Point and was assigned as executive officer on a sea-going tug stationed at Pier 91. He loved to fly, however, and in his first job he worked 19 months for Air West. George then spent over six years as a pilot for Pan American Airways, and he even purchased his own airplane. It became obvious that his plan was to stay in the Naval Reserve and fly planes.

There is ample evidence that the Navy plane carrying several pilots that crashed in Alaska Dec. 13, 1972 had hit directly into the mountainside on Great Sitkin Island in the Aleutian chain. It was about 25 miles from Adak Naval Station. George was among the 10 Navy pilots lost that winter day. His crew was on a mission to pick up personnel from the Whidbey Naval Station and return them to their families for the Christmas holidays.

Bob Rois '55, George's teammate on the 1953 championship team, was also stationed at Whidbey. Bob spoke with George shortly before he left on that fatal flight. As misfortune would have it, Bob lost two friends on that plane that night. Because the plane was not accessible, the bodies have never been recovered. George left behind a wife and two small children.

George's tragic death started a Queen Anne movement that has grown ever since. After his memorial funeral at St. Demetrios Orthodox Church, his friends decided to meet each year at Christmas to honor those who were deceased. Ever since this plan was placed in motion, a Christmas luncheon has been held around the Queen Anne neighborhood. Over the past 32 years, the luncheon has grown to include men from all classes. This year, it was back at the Rock Salt steakhouse on Lake Union Dec. 27. It is sad that it took the death of a friend before the alumni group called the MOQA (Men of Queen Anne) decided to meet and celebrate with each other.

Life's too short for one not to take a few moments to remember the past. It's fair to say that the Greek kid who lived on Galer Street set the agenda for those of us who get together during the year to break bread or play golf. If someone asks us what high school we graduated from, we can better proudly say, "Queen Anne". Even though the doors are shut, the memory of George and many others will live on.

I miss the fullback on my football team.

100+ Alums Attend Annual December MOQA Luncheon

By Kim R. Turner '61

The Men of Queen Anne held their annual luncheon at Rock Salt Steak House Dec. 27, 2005. More than 100 alums and one coach were present for a delightful time of camaraderie and memory sharing. Among the attendees were former coach Walt Milroy, and Grizzly sports stars from the 1930s through the 1960s. Bob Houbregs and Edo Vanni represented two of the best sportsmen Queen Anne ever had, although many others in attendance were on winning teams. Jerry Munro represented the Class of 1935, the earliest Grizzly class present, and there were representatives from classes through 1979. My own class of 1961 gave a bigger showing than in previous years, with seven in attendance. Unlike former years, the classes from the 1950s and 1960s dominated the group. The next annual luncheon is scheduled for Dec. 27, 2006.

QA Golf Classic: 2005 a Success & 2006 Date Set

By Dee Hawkes '54

The 2005 Bob Houbregs Queen Anne Golf Classic was a huge success and raised $4,000 for athletic scholarships. Held at the Everett Golf and Country Club Sept. 26, more than 80 golfers took part and were treated to great golf, good food, and a chance to hang out with other Grizzlies.

Former baseball Coach Walt Milroy and West Seattle Coach Bud Pripp were on hand to add some older flavor and play in Bob's foursome.

The tournament format is an 18-hole, four-person "best ball scramble". QA graduates, both men and women, and their friends came to play, regardless of their skill level. Several golfers entered as individuals, others as a team, which did include old golfing buddies from high school.

It is very fitting that this golf tournament is named after one of the best athletes the school has ever produced. Houbregs is regarded as the best basketball player to have graduated from Queen Anne. He was an All-American at the University of Washington, played professional basketball, and was elected into the College Hall of Fame.

All proceeds go toward athletic scholarships in the name of QA coaches and players.

The 2006 tournament will return to Everett and is scheduled for Sept. 25. The push is to get a foursome to play from each QAHS class -- both men and women are invited to play!

Established in 1973, MOQA offers scholarships to QAHS descendants who are participating in athletics at non-Division 1 schools. These funds come from donations throughout the year, and from the annual fall golf tournament, the Bob Houbregs Queen Anne Golf Classic. For more info on all MOQA events, visit www.moqa.org or www.qagrizzlies.org or phone Bruce Bowe '62 at (206) 234-4299 or Dee Hawkes '54 at (425) 485-5665.
