New Park Location for '06 Annual Summer Alumni Picnic Grizzlies Grow Into Woodland Park Locale

By Barb Nelson '58

The 13th annual QAHS Alumni Association picnic will be held Sunday, Aug. 20, at the Lower Woodland Park, Shelter 6, from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. A large turnout last year necessitated the change in venue to a larger facility.

The Association will provide hot dogs, soda pop and coffee. Our "Al's Hamburgers" guys will be grilling burgers, and alumni will bring side dishes to share. Horseshoe games will be set up in the area courtesy of L.D. Zobrist '62. Others are invited to bring their sets, so plan on joining in on the games!

Classes of '36, '61, '66, '71, '76, and '81 are hosting reunion activities at the 2006 picnic as well.

For directions to the Picnic at Lower Woodland Park Stove 6, see Page 16 or visit www.qagrizzlies.org.

Queen Anne Reborn as Condos Alumni Open House Scheduled Aug. 12

By John Hennes '51

Our beloved high school will see a new life as condominium homes this summer. A special open house will be held at the school on Saturday, Aug. 12, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., to welcome back grads of all years.

Grizzlies will have an opportunity to buy into the new Queen Anne High School Condominiums during the initial conversion period before public sales begin later this summer, according to Michael Graubard of the conversion team.

Queen Anne closed in June 1981, marked by our huge Last Hurrah festival. It reopened with 139 rental units in 1987, following a $9.2 million remodel by Lorig Associates. The Seattle School District still owned the land and held the lease with Lorig. In 2005, using a clause in the lease with the District, Lorig opted to sell the school to Legacy Partners, a large real estate firm, for about $25 million. The School District will get a payment of 12 percent of the condo sales for this transfer, and will permanently lose control of the school and site. Although this does not seem like a very large return for such a valuable location, the agreement made in the mid '80s was considered the best possible for the market at that time. Grizzlies will forever mourn this sequence of events.

Grads can take heart in that the building is a designated Seattle Landmark and on the National Register of Historic Places. The Legacy Partners say that they are determined to preserve the historic qualities of the building.

Units will go on sale this summer with average prices in the $400,000 range, according to Graubard. The conversion to condos is underway now in a $5 million to $7 million upgrade. The original front door will be reestablished as the main entrance.

To learn about the condos, visit www.queenannehigh.com or phone (206) 282-5300. If you can help out as a greeter or guide at the Aug. 12 alumni event, contact Barbara Nelson at (206) 567-4180 or visit the QAHSAA website at www.qagrizzlies.org.

From Our QAHSAA President

Greetings fellow Grizzlies! It's a milestone year for our Association, our 25th Anniversary - where have all those years gone? Time passes quickly. It has been way more years than that though, that in my mind and spirit I am still that teenager about to leave the familiar halls of our Alma Mater. I just wish that my mind and body would cooperate with this spirit of mine.

I am looking forward to seeing all of you at the Summer Picnic, the Magnolia Festival and annual Fall Banquet. I hope that those of you who think that one of these days you will check out one of these events will in fact join us to share the good times and memories.

I also have hopes of seeing many of you at the special celebration planned by Legacy Partners, the developer converting our school to condominiums. I think it is going to be a special time for all of us.

Hope you are all doing well! In Grizzly Fellowship, Barb

Barb Nelson '58 and Anne Jean (Meston) McLay '25 share QAHS memories. Anne's story written by Nancy (Trout) Gould-Hilliard '58 is on Page 5.

We need your input to create this column. Send news of Grizzlies to: KUAY Editor, QA Alumni Assoc., P.O. Box 9128, Seattle, WA 98109, or e-mail: kturner@spl.org Photos are always wanted.

Faculty

Hazel Hansen: Now Hazel Danielson, recently sent us clippings from the 1974 KUAY Senior Edition. The June 7 issue discusses parking problems, "Women's lib", "Greaser Day," Coach Dick Clark's retirement and Mrs. Boskowitz, "the bookroom lady". Mrs. Hansen, who taught business education and was school librarian, is 96 and lives at the Crista Facility (formerly King's Garden).

Erwin Henkel: In the February KUAY, the sketch of Coach Henkel was drawn by Sally (Raymond) Marts '63. The original was in the 1962 Grizzly Annual. Data courtesy of Joan Raymond '68, who is currently a graphic designer in the Seattle area.

Otto Luther: Roger Luther '29, son of QA's first principal, died on June 8, aged 94. He served in the U.S. Navy for 25 years and was later a harbor pilot until age 70! He is survived by his sister, Virginia (Luther) Helmrich '30.

Gertrude Tormey: Correspondence was received from Shelley Green, a distant cousin of Miss Tormey, who was working on family genealogy. She googled our article in the KUAY and we supplied her with a copy. It is the first picture Shelley's side of the family has of Miss Tormey, who is a first cousin to Shelley's grandmother.

Mel Waite: Seattle's winningest high school baseball coach died in January. About 400 attended a celebration of life service at the Ballard Elks Club in February. Stories told were enough to keep the crowd in stitches instead of tears. Coaching from 1960-1981, Mel's team took 199 victories, several division titles, and the 1969 city title.

1930s

John Penso '35, and wife Millie (Iverson) '39, celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary March 30. They sent a multi-generational photo of the family, which included daughters Pam '61 and Jill (Penso) Grant '66, and their thanks for The KUAY.

Glen R. Rings '34, was listed as MIA in World War II. A UW grad, he became a Supply Corps officer in Philadelphia before being assigned to the U.S. Fleet in the Philippines. He was a LtJG on the gunboat USS Ashville in the Java Sea in February 1942 when he went missing. He was declared dead in 1945. This update was sent in by Glen's sister Bettylou deBeauleaux Schauer '42.

1940s

Mary (Ferber)Wiese '40, retired from innkeeping after 20 years. She owns the Salisbury House B&B on Capitol Hill. Her daughter Cathryn will continue the inn while Mary travels, plays bridge, and follows the local sports teams' fortunes.

Robert O. (Bob) Johnson '43, sends a donation for The KUAY, and notes that he and his wife, Barbara, have been married 54 years. They are snowbirds, spending half the year in Arizona, and the other half in Pullman, where Bob is Professor Emeritus of English at WSU. He sends regards to all. Bob was formerly editor of The KUAY Weekly.

Joyce Langsted '46 and Joan Langsted '47, a.k.a. The Gold Dust Twins, are featured in the recent book, "On American Soil," by Jack Hamann, a local author.

Hugh Judson (Judd) Westgate'45. Judd's widow, Gloria, sends copies of articles and annual pages featuring Judd, who served in World War II in the South Pacific, then attended the UW, later Carthage College and the Northwestern Lutheran Seminary, from where he was ordained in 1954. He retired after serving 40 years. He died February 23, 2005.

Bob Lajala '48: Bob sends greetings from Arizona (and reminds me that he was my 8th grade science teacher) and encloses more stories for a future issue of The KUAY. He and wife Phyllis (Peterson) '47, live in the same development as Clair Niesz '46, Diane (Clarke) Niesz '49, and Alice (Ostrem) Rice '47. "Thanks to the Editorial Board for keeping The KUAY alive."

Annabelle (Gullikson) Wall '49, notes that although she has reduced her voice studio hours, she is still teaching three days a week. She has traveled to the International Congress of Voice Teachers, held in Vancouver, B.C. last year, and a dream cruise to Alaska.

Husband Bob to Margaret (Johnson) Putnam '52, writes of a Grizzly encounter in Columbia, S.C. Shopping in a local health food store, they overheard the words, "Queen Anne." Asking the speaker if they were talking about Seattle, they discovered that the husband of one of the women is a 1967 graduate. The Putnams failed to get the man's name, but did learn that he was receiving The KUAY. They had a good time talking Seattle and intend to return to visit Seattle this summer.

From Tabor, Iowa comes a photo of a young William A. Reese III '50, who read that we like to get photos of grads. William still considers himself, "Wild Bill".

Jean (Ruggles) Gurrera '54, writes, "I wonder if you have any idea of the memories your KUAY stimulates. There are many of us who have long since moved away from Seattle and our lives only connect to our memories through your KUAY. Each time I read a new issue it stirs up some of my special thoughts about Queen Anne High School. You keep those alive ... Thank you for the work you do." Bob Hellenthal '57, writes that his parents were also QA grads (1925 and 1927), and that his sister, DeeAnn, is a '59 grad. Bob lives with his wife Betty, a native of Florida, in Brandon, Mississippi, and would love to hear from classmates. Bob had a bad accident in 2005, but is recovering nicely.

Bob Hawkins '59, has given the QA Archive his game ball from the Queen Anne-West Seattle basketball game in which he scored 50 points, being the first Seattle high school basketball player to do so. Only three others have achieved that goal, but the record lasted until 1981, when O'Dea's John DeFranco broke it, scoring 53 points in a single game. That record was matched in 1997 by Ballard's Michael Johnson. O'Dea's Jon Hale tied the record Bob set back in 1959. Oh, yes, the Grizzlies won that game, 90-65.

Gerry Bradley '59, has published a book about growing up bi-polar, "Birds From the Thicket." Gerry, now living in Tacoma, recounts much about growing up on Queen Anne that the average reader will enjoy remembering. There is a great write-up in the August 24, 2005 Queen Anne News on page 28.

1960s

Rob Hitchings '62, writes: "...following the 40th reunion of the Class of '62, a Fort Lawton 'Brats' reunion was held on Whidbey Island. Attendees included Karen (Fields) Armstrong '62, Sue (Patton) Krolick '62, Libby (Hampson) Moore '62, (with husband Bill, a Ballard grad '61); Bobbie (Fields) Colszta '61, Harry Fields, Jack Gerber '61, and Frank Gerber '64. Rob is looking for any other Fort Lawton "brats" to join them for annual get-togethers. Contact Rob via e-mail at: rebelranger7@earthlink.net.

Rick Malsed '63, past president of the QAHSAA, now lives in California and continues his travels around the country. This time, CA. to Seattle and vicinity.

Shary Flenniken '68, is a dark cartoonist, whose personal life parallels some of the humor she has captured in her work. She was written up in the April 12, 2006 Queen Anne News, page 16.

Jeanne Levin '68, writes of her career as an estate planning attorney in Santa Rosa, CA. She was research editor of the Hastings Law Journal while she attended Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco. She was the first woman president of the Rotary Club of Santa Rosa, breaking a male leadership that had run 80 years. Carroll Hershey '69, finally has his private pilot certification, 38 years after taking an introductory flight lesson. Carroll and wife Sheila work for Lockheed-Martin in Santa Maria, CA.

1970s

Ed Stockard '71, and his wife, Dr. Torre Stockard, will be hosting an Antarctic cruise next February. This info comes from Ed's sister, Denise (Stockard) Cruz '68, who works as a travel counselor.

Michael Warren '72, is in real estate and investments in San Francisco.

Daylene Mary (Dewey) Ure '73, was married to Dale James Ure at the LDS Salt Lake City Temple April 14, 2006. They will live in Washington, Utah.

Darcy (O'Brien) Person '76, was written up in the May 24, 2006 Queen Anne News. She is the current owner/baker of Nielsen's Danish Pastry Shop, at 520 Second Ave. W., just below Mercer. She follows the time-honored traditions of fine baking, and as a customer who followed John Nielsen's shop from the Jones Building in downtown Seattle to its current location, I can recommend all of the items available. # Eldest QA & John Hay Alumna Is Crystal Clear on the “Good Life”

And Proud To Be One of over 26,000 Grads from “The Queen”

By Nancy (Trout) Gould-Hilliard '58

Anne Jean Meston's 1925 senior QAHS Annual says she came from John Hay School, belonged to Girls' Club for four years, Fashion Show for three years, was chairman of Rest Room III, belonged to LiveWire for three years, and was nicknamed “Nursie”.

Her photo shows a sensible-appearing young woman sporting a healthy head of “Roaring Twenties” finger waves.

Today, the 101-year-old Anne (Meston) McLay is still a livewire, still owns her 100-year-old family home on First Avenue North (although she's lived at Columbia Lutheran Home for three years), and still has coiffed finger waves in her now-white hair.

Most remarkably, she can recall with astounding accuracy “the way it was” on early Queen Anne Hill, and recently shared flashbacks with QA Alumni Association president Barbara (Wilson) Nelson, and writer Nancy (Trout) Gould-Hilliard, both from the Class of 1958.

“The Avenue was a dirt road in the '20s, with scattered houses and stores,” says Anne. “I remember the first Queen Anne Theater there, where we watched Fatty Arbuckle, Frances Farmer, cowboys and Mrs. Matthews playing the piano along with the movies. Friday nights they raffled off baskets of fruit and other merchant donations.”

Streetcars and electric trolleys ran on “The Ave” until 1941, and the cablemaster “blew his whistle from a little shack at the foot of the hill,” signaling the counterbalance would pull the cable car up the steep grade. Grocery stores soon sprung up on The Ave at Galer, Boston and McGraw streets. Safeway, on The Ave and Blaine, came later. Drugstores, such as Koerner's, Standard, Federal, Galer Street Pharmacy, Baker Drug, Kinnear Pharmacy and others delivered goods to homes. Good thing too, as Anne's dad, a Scot in the shipping business, didn't believe in women driving. Ice, milk, letters, fresh eggs, produce and fish also came to the doorstep, many by horse and wagon.

“We kids couldn't wait for the iceman, to capture the chips left behind for our own pleasures.”

Bakeries, meat markets and a dime store were other favorites that cropped up on The Ave over the years. Anne says she didn't mind progress, even when the KIRO, KOMO and KING towers sprouted nearby. When her youngest son, Bobbie, got tired of watching television at neighbors, “we had a big TV delivered in the Frederick and Nelson truck” during the late 1950s.

However, “The Ave was better then,” she's quick to add. “Now it's all restaurants.” She also is disappointed in the conversion of QAHS into a residential facility. “Looks like we could use it again for the Queen Anne and Magnolia kids. But it's gone.” She delighted in the recent historic John Hay restoration and its continued use as a school for bilingual and international students.

For fun in the early days, Anne remembers skating on local streets, which she much preferred to rinks, where she actually met her husband-to-be, John “Scottie” McLay, in the 1930s. The family attended circuses pitched at the then-open Fifth North and Mercer Street property; and she and her high school chums cheered for the Grizzlies on the Denny Field gridiron when they played Broadway, Garfield, West Seattle, Ballard, Lincoln and Franklin high schools.

Extended outings were to Alki on the streetcar, Bainbridge Island on the Blackball Ferry Line, picnics in the nearby fruit orchards, hotdog roasts over a fire on nearby vacant lots. The family would go to Mount Pleasant (a wooded site beyond the cemetery) to cut their own Christmas tree.

While she or her two boys never touched the fruit hanging on the nearby orchards, she admitted to “stuffing my bloomers with plums that had fallen on the ground.”

Carnegie Library opened at Fourth West and Garfield Streets 1914. The Rainier Baseball Team came to town in the late '20s and played by Rainier Avenue, later in Sick's Stadium. She enjoyed the cafeterias and tea room in downtown Seattle, and occasional outings to Uptown. “Magnolia was way too far away to visit,” she added.

As a grade-schooler, Anne would walk the four blocks from her home up Newton Street to the historic John Hay School, which opened the same year as her birth, 1905. Her brother and sisters also attended this neighborhood school, and two of them even got to attend the “new brick building addition,” which opened in 1922.

When she graduated from John Hay to QAHS, she joined 200-some others in her class who came from nearby grade schools at Interbay, Lawton, Mercer, Coe, West Queen Anne, Warren Avenue, North Queen Anne and Denny. Others transferred from various city high schools, St. Anne's, Holy Names, St. Nicholas, and Seattle Pacific, among others. She worked at Frederick and Nelson's on Saturdays, and after graduation, worked 10 years for Sears Roebuck at First Avenue South and Lander Street, where she sold and stocked linens and yardage.

She says she wasn't much interested in boys during her high school years, and while others learned to Lindy Hop and Charleston, she was more driven by wanderlust. At 16, she went by ship to Alameda, CA., to visit her aunt, Verel Redford (her dad's sister), for a month. After high school she took another shipboard trip to Skagway, AK., with her good friend, Vera Sundee. She took a dare to jump into the icy water along the way, and earned a crate of oranges for being a good sport.

Later in life, Anne visited Glasgow, Scotland, cruised the Caribbean, explored Yellowstone National Park, and enjoyed Maui eight times. She remembers paying $12 a night at the Royal Hawaiian. Several of these trips were as an independent woman, she says.

As for the comparison of early and current cultures on The Hill, Anne laments today's loss of small amenities.

“It seemed friendlier back then” says the 101-year-old. “We used to look out for one another. Our kids shoveled the neighbors' snow or edged their parking strips. We took in their papers when gone, or shopped for some when they needed it. Mrs. Stone and Webster always would rest on our steps on their way home from shopping.”

Anne did the owner-baker of Standard Bakery a favor once during a worker's strike when he asked for her temporary help. She ended up liking it enough to stay 12 years. She also remembers the transients coming up from the Interbay trains to ask for food, which they did receive at the McLays.

“Today, everyone's doing their own thing and they can't be bothered so much with small gestures of kindness.”

Back to the “Nursie” nickname Anne acquired at QAHS. She soon learned from her practice experience at Virginia Mason that it wasn't a profession for her. However, it was evident from recent rounds at the Columbia Lutheran Home that she's still an outreach worker. She stops in the halls to acknowledge the other residents, admits she tries to “bring some out of their shells,” and she connects with the international workers there who exchange travel tales with her.

When asked her secret for longevity and health, Anne suggests “growing up on plain food – especially cod liver oil, oatmeal mush, oatcakes and mealey pudding,” many of which came from her Scottish heritage. She also was known in her youth for climbing utility poles, sometimes to retrieve shoes or other things thrown up there by the kids, for which she would get a penny or a nickel.

“I asked mom once why I couldn't have pink

History Repeats: Class of '56

By Carl Weiss '56

Class of '56 returned to the scene of its senior prom June 17 for its 50th with 145 grads, spouses, and friends for an evening of renewing old friendships, photo shoots and a fine buffet dinner. Setting the tone of reminiscence were several vintage automobiles lining the entry drive to the Nile Country Club. The principal architect and ramrod who kept things moving on track was Perry Perry. Many others contributed.

Fourth Year QAHSAA Awards 30 New Scholarships

Arnoux Awarded 25th Anniversary Scholarship

By Kerry McMahan '54

Our 24th annual scholarship competition again resulted in 30 scholarship awards. This is the fourth year in a row 30 awards have been made possible by the exceptional generosity of classes, reunion groups, individual donations and the collective donations of many Queen Anne alumni. This year, 81 applications were requested, and 70 correctly completed applications were received by the March 31 deadline. Twenty-one scholarships were awarded to high school seniors and nine to university students. Named scholarships are mentioned in the winners' paragraphs that follow. Unnamed scholarships are given from the Queen Anne High School Alumni Association Scholarship Fund.

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the QAHSAA, the board of trustees created a one-time only $2,500 academic scholarship to be awarded to a candidate who exemplifies the Grizzly tradition of scholastic achievement, participation in extracurricular activities and community service. Following an exhaustive review of all candidates, Gillean Mekaisto Arnoux of Browning High School, Browning, MT., was chosen as the recipient of this landmark award.

bloomers, and she said because I was always up in the air!"

As a married woman, Anne raised two sons, Bill, 68, who now lives in Severna Park, MD., and Bob, 62, who lives in Puyallup. Bill (QA Class of 1956) is a consulting industrial engineer who formerly worked for the U.S. Army and Kaiser, and now for a company that destroys chemical weapons. Carol (Ajax), his wife, Class of 1958, has retired from teaching elementary school, and the couple now has more time to enjoy their three grown children and six grandchildren. Bob, Class of 1963, retired from a 30-year career with Sealand.

Anne still recalls her teachers who made a difference. "At QAHS, Miss (Jessie) Butler helped us make our dresses for the Fashion Show Club; Miss (Stella) Pearce taught us how to cook." Otto Luther was her high school principal, Marie Hawkins worked in the office; Mabel Furry taught girls gym; and Earl Millikin was the head history teacher. At John Hay, "Misses Bain, Bellevue, Pelton and Stoy" stood out.

They left indelible marks on Anne Meston McLay and those she encounters even now, eight decades later.

Do You Have Magnolia Memories to Share? Second Book Underway

Magnolia: Memories & Milestones, already in its third printing, will have a second in the series of history storytelling. The City of Seattle awarded a $70,000 grant to the team to complete the project. Thus production of Volume II is in full swing with 18 volunteer writers and five editors. Chapters will include stories and photos on: Lawton Wood, Trains, The Children's Orthopedic Annex Convalescent Home, and more Magnolian's memories and milestones. The book is due out in Spring 2007.

Barbara (Wade) Gates '45 shares memories such as these, "Mom was a member by this time of the "Mothers Club" which had begun with her friends, the schools and the neighborhood. The criteria for membership was to have a child or one on the way. The meetings were wonderful luncheons hosted in turns..."

Coley Wycoff '41 and Howard Gilbert '42 give us pictures and stories of boyhood in their neighborhood. Dale (Forbus) Hogle '45 and Monica Wooton are working with Indian Tribes on "The West Point Dig" and the findings of ancient use of Magnolia's bluff by Natives. The Lighthouse, the oldest building in King County, will have its history told. There are tidbits to tickle many Magnolians' fancies: Francis Atherton and her plays, The Santa Shack, and a History of Lawton School. World War II "Here and Over There" will be a significant part of the book.

Members of The Magnolia Historical Society may buy the new volume first. Interested in a membership to the Society, have old photos, or a story to tell? Phone Monica Wooton, president of the Magnolia Historical Society and book project manager at (206) 284-2430 or Hal Will '44 at (206) 789-0287 or halathome@aol.com.

WANTED: QUEEN ANNE GOLFERS

There is no better time to play some golf with old friends than at the Bob Houbregs Queen Anne Golf Classic. It will be held Monday, Sept. 25, at the Everett Golf and Country Club. The tournament format is an 18-hole, four-person, best ball scramble.

All Queen Anne graduates, men and women, and their friends are welcome to play. The tournament welcomes good players, weekend warriors, once-a-year scramble players, young lions and lionesses, high handicappers, middle-of-road players, high profile amateurs, and those who just want to be there.

The $150 entry fee includes golf, cart, box lunch, shirt, snacks, and a buffet dinner. The schedule of events starts with registration at 11 a.m., followed by the 12:30 p.m. scramble start. Non-golfer putting contests start at 3 p.m. with different fees. The cost to attend the Awards Buffet only is $25.

This event is sponsored by the Men of Queen Anne, which is a member of the Alliance for Education, a non-profit organization. Our purpose for play is to raise athletic scholarship money for the families of Queen Anne graduates. We need your support. Please sponsor a hole! Picture your business sign displayed professionally for all the golfers to see! Contact Roger Pinneo at (206) 346-3322 or Gordon Fouts at (425) 822-7937.
